

Austro-American Association of Boston

is pleased to announce the performance of

Monika Stadler

Internationally Known Austrian Harpist and Composer

Sunday, February 18, 2007, at 4:00

at the

Goethe Institute, Boston

170 Beacon Street, Boston

Monika Stadler is one of the most interesting and talented solo-harpists in the world today.

Her career has included positions in the Vienna Symphony Orchestra, Vienna State Opera, and Austrian Broadcasting Orchestra. She has also had many appearances on TV plus solo and collaborative performances on both sides of the Atlantic.

Monika completed a rigorous study of classical concert performances at Vienna's University of Music and Performing Arts, and study of the jazz harp at Berklee College of Music in Boston. Her musical voice is uniquely her own with compositions and improvisations that are rooted in classical, Latin jazz, world and folk music bringing a new dimension to the sound of the harp.

On her CD's some pieces are in collaboration with percussion, cello, violin, flute, harmonica and tuba. Some titles are: My Imaginary Garden, Everything Will Be All Right, Song For The Earth (I-Ma-Mai), On The Water, Another World, and Two Ways.

Recent reviews from Monika's concerts include: "Her music touches the soul", and "Listening to her music, inspired as much of it is by nature, lifts the spirits and warms the heart".

Monika Stadler lives in Vienna and has toured Europe extensively, as well as Morocco, Israel, USA, and Japan, as a performer and workshop teacher.

There will be a buffet and beverages, including wine, contributed by the Austro-American Association.

Monika Stadler's travel is sponsored with the kind support from "Wien Kultur", and the Austrian Cultural Forum

 Austrian Cultural Forum^{YOW}
Austrian Embassy Ottawa

Directions: The Goethe-Institut Boston is located between Berkeley and Clarendon Street. Tel. 617 262-6050

Please send in this reservation slip with your check (made out to A-AA) to Traude Acker, 265 Otis Street, West Newton, MA 02465 by February 10th, (Tel. 617-527-7335). Please respond by this date, so we can make the final arrangements with the Goethe Institute.

The contribution will cover some of the costs of performance fee, use of the Institute, food and beverages:
$ 20.00 per person.

Names of Attendees:

.....

..... Total $

Tel No: